Complete without notes after the lesson or for independent consolidation. This original classroom test is separate from the six-item workbook retrieval quiz.

1 Identify two of Murdock's four functions. [2]

2 Explain why functionalism is described as a consensus approach. [3]

3 Name the process through which people learn norms and values. [1]

Evidence and application

Fictional case for analysis, not a representative research finding. In the Vale household, two parents care for a child. They teach turn-taking and share income to meet food and housing costs. One parent performs most unpaid care and has less time for paid work. A relative living elsewhere helps regularly. A school teaches literacy and a publicly funded clinic provides healthcare. The case supplies no evidence about sexual relationships or reproduction. Do not invent those details.

4 Use the Vale case to illustrate two functions, explaining each link. [4]

5 Use the school or clinic to explain a functional alternative or overlap. [2]

6 Use the unequal division of care to explain one challenge to an entirely positive account. [3]
