3 Name the process of monitoring and reconsidering action. [1]

Evidence and application

Fictional case: Erin and Dev regularly discuss how to divide care and whether their partnership meets their needs. Dev is offered work in another city. Erin's local caring commitments make moving difficult, and two homes would be unaffordable. They negotiate a temporary arrangement and plan a review. The account illustrates negotiation and constraint; it does not establish a national trend.

4 Explain one negotiated feature and one constraint in the Erin and Dev case. [4]

5 Why can more choices produce uncertainty? [2]

6 Propose evidence for a claim of change over time. [3]

After marking
