Complete without notes after the lesson or for independent consolidation. This original classroom test is separate from the six-item workbook retrieval quiz.

1 Distinguish separation from divorce. [2]

2 Interpret 8.4 per 1,000 accurately. [3]

3 Name a factor already present before separation that can affect later outcomes. [1]

Evidence and application

Fictional comparison: In the Vale case, adults separate after repeated disagreements. They organise predictable care across two nearby homes; day-to-day conflict becomes less frequent, although both budgets tighten. In the Hill case, a separation is followed by insecure housing and disputes about travel for care. A report labels both 'divorced families' and predicts identical experiences for everyone involved. These accounts illustrate mechanisms only; no learner is asked to discuss personal family circumstances.

4 Explain two conditions producing different experiences in the cases. [4]

5 Why do legal counts not reveal every relationship breakdown? [2]

6 Improve a claim that divorce alone causes every later difficulty. [3]
